Skilled graphic artist and web designer Josie Palma utilizes her experience with web development and design to create LaneOPX's print and web media. She is the visionary behind LaneOPX's branded curriculum materials, handbooks, and guides and additionally creates branded content for LaneOPX clients, including quick-use employee guides, company signage, and other educational and promotional materials.

Josie has provided design solutions such as web development and marketing to multiple non-profit organizations. She has served the web and design needs of a local radio station and a local church, where she volunteers as head of the media department.

Josie holds a Bachelor's Degree in Media and Web Design from Platt College in San Diego. She is skilled in HTML, CSS, Adobe Photoshop, Adobe Dreamweaver, Adobe InDesign, Adobe Premiere, Adobe After Effects, audio waveform videos, Microsoft Suite, Blackbaud NetCommunity, and Blackbaud/Kintera Sphere.
